CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapter, the writer presents the conclusion and suggestion following the finding of the study, the first section is the conclusion of the research finding and the second is suggestion.

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the result that has beendone by research and analysis what the author has described, it can be concluded as follows:

In accordance with the information that has been described in previos chapters, the author can explain that research at the Christian Artha Wacana University. The author can draw the following conclusion: the lecturers "The implementation of problem based learning to improve students writng skill. The implementation of problem based learning to improve students writing could be applied in writing descriptive text, the activity seemed to be more amusing and challenging. The implementation of problem based learning in students writing skill was done by dividing lecture.

According to the data from the result of interview which had been done and analyzed in the previous chapter it showed indicators that implementing the problem based learning to improve students writing skill could help the students. Problem based learning could be a solution for the students to make discussion text easier because problem based learning pose situation as stimulation which the students could develop ideas.

5.2 Suggestion

At the end the research, the are some suggestions for lecturers, students and further researcher:

1 For school: For lecturers to pay more attention to their studens and explain more interesting methods so students fell happy and comportable so that problem based learning can provide benefits and encourage every students.

2 For students: For students to become easier to lern and can recognize a variety of unknown applications, the most important thing is to love English and pay attention to lecturers who explain when in the learning process.

3 Further reseaches: For the the next researcher in order to develop this research again to deepen the problem baed learning, especially for the worldof education.