

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGESTON

In this chapter consist of two points, those are conclusion and suggestion. After this research completed, the researcher gave some conclusion and suggestions for this research.

5.1 Conclusion

1. Based on the research results obtained, it can be concluded that: Applying a learning model using English for elementary school books in reading text subjects can improve the learning outcomes of class V students at Gmit Oesapa Elementary School. This can be seen from the increase in student learning outcomes in cycle I; there were 18 students (90%) who obtained a score of 75 or above with an average score percentage of 85.55 %

2. There was an increase in student learning outcomes after applying reading text learning to student learning outcomes. Student learning outcomes experienced an increase, namely, in the first cycle test, there were 18 students who achieved learning completeness (90%), and the second cycle showed that students achieved learning completeness. There were 20 students (100%).

This shows that learning to read texts can improve student learning outcomes, as can be seen from the reality that occurs in the classroom during the teaching and learning process. By learning to read texts, teachers really help in the teaching and learning process in the classroom, and students can work together to solve problems. Students not only get the material taught but can also help weak students solve problems and develop abilities in their skills.

5.1 Suggestion

Based on the research findings, the researcher would like to propose some suggestions. Which are addressed to teachers, students, and other researchers?

1. For the Teachers

Teachers can use reading to improve students' reading skills comprehension. The use of this student reading skills in teaching and learning process is very fun and interesting for students. Moreover, the students reading provided is in the form of a reading text. It is very easy to apply and can motivate students in learning English.

2. For the Students

Students can apply reading skills by understanding the material given because it will help them to solve their problems in reading English and to improve their students reading comprehension.

3. For Other Researchers

The results only confirm the hypothesis, but do not prove that something is absolutely true all the time. In addition, this research needs improvement thinking for further research in addition, the findings of this study are expected to be used as a starting point for further research on similar topics.
