

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents some conclusions and suggestion that could be used to the result for language shift in young UabMeto Speaking Community at Bakunase II.. The results has taken from the qualitative analysis. So based on the result of the research discussions and accordance to the purpose of this research, the writer presents the following conclusions and suggestions.

5.1 Conclusion

From the data that the writer analyzed. According to the research problem mentioned in chapter I , the conclusion can be arranged the research questions are What are the factors that influence language shift phenomenon of young UabMeto speaking community in Bakunase II area in Milienal Era ? and What are the level of language shift phenomenon towards to young UabMeto speaking community in Bakunase II area in Milienal Era ?

The reseracher found that the young UabMeto at Bakunase II are didn't use UabMeto in their daily conversation at all. They are more dominant in using Kupang Malay than their mother tongue. They understood their mother tongue but difficult in speaking . They just know at least the words that usually appeared in their daily use of language such as mua(eat), niun (Minum) , tup (Sleep) , Loit (Money) etc. In conclusion , the writer found out the young UabMeto at Bakunase II are generally categories in 2 degrees of endengareds:

(1) definitively endangered because children no longer learn the language as mother tongue at home. Kupang Malay is mostly spoken by the young Uab Meto than mother tongue (Uab Meto) .The researcher found 20 young Uab Meto who categoriezied in this type.

(2) severely endangered because language is spoken by grandparents and older generations; while the parent generation may understand it but factly in daily communication they do not speak the Uab Meto to children or among themselves. The researcher found 5 young UabMeto who categorized in this type.

The dominant factors that found bywriter at this research are Bilingual and numbers of speakers.

5.2 Suggestion

In the result of this research the writer propose a suggestion, because the reseracher expect that this study is useful for other reserachers. This research was important for another writers to conduct their reseracher deeply in qualitative analysis. Finally the reseracher realizes that this study is still unperfect at all. Therefore, the writer always welcome to all of goodcritiscism and suggestion about this research in under to be better.